The War in Europe.

Correspondence of the Lot sv.lle Journa Paris, Tuesday, July 17, 1836. The last few days have been a period of very greet and natural anxiety. People were made to feel that the issues of peace and war were langing in the balance. I mean the issues of peace and war as regards this country, and the question whether I rance, and with her doubtless all the rest of Europe to be drawn intesthe condict now confined to Italy and Germany. If you could be as well aware. demand was for intelligence in ordance with those aspirations, d yet none came! The Moniteur was it day after day; and instead of the icipated assurances that all was going tured up by rampant articles in the Tory press of England, which would make us believe that French theets were sailing to the Adriatic, and French armies gathering the Adriatic, and French armies gathering on the northeast frontier or even taking the road across Mount Cenis to Turin. Now my last letter will show you that I fully estimated the severity of the crisis, and the real danger which existed less the Empirer Napoleon, feeling the reins which he had just taken up slipping out of his hands and events. I ask that gentleman why kentucky has not repealed or amended or changed her barbarous laws.

FOR SLERK OF COURT OF APPEALS GEN. E. H. HOBSON.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1-66.

Col. Frank Wolford, in his speech at Lebanon, said that if Hobson would take back his vote last year for the Constintional Amendment, and would say he was forry for it and would do so no more, then he would vote for him. Hobson promised

It is difficult, in replying to such things as that, to confine one's self, as we wish to do, to the language of civility and courte ev General Hobson, we are gravely told promised Colonel Wolford to say that he as sorry that he voted last year for the Constitutional Amendment and would do so no more' Pray, how could be do so any more if he wolud? What opportunity will he ever have of voting for last year s Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery? Is that amendment (now a part of the Federal Constitution) to be voted on again? Doesn't the Courier see that the malignity of its misrepresentations is rendered harmless by their imbecility?

The maintenance of the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery is avowed y a part of the Administration's policy. efore, whatever other citizens may do or say, the editor of the Courier an l the rest of the returned Confederates are sworn to support that amendment. By the oath which they took on their return. and upon the strength of which they received permission to remain in Kentucky, they bound themselves to sustain all orders, proclamations, edicts, &c., of the Administration, AND ESPECIALLY IN REFER ENCE TO SLAVERY. We can judge for ourselves as to the tendency of the Government's measures and recommendations it regard to slavery and all things else, and act and vote according to our judgment, but the Courier & Co. ean do no such thing. They have foresworn all free They have hooks in their noses, and the lines are in the Administration's hands. A sad plight indeed for the poor fellows to be in, but they will get used to

Our neighbor launches out strongly upon the sol ject of the declaration of martial have learned nothing by the war. The declaration of it in Georgia, and he wants to know upon what pretext of authority such ontrages are perpetrated, demands where they are to stop, and asks whethe they are to be extended over the whole country, making it an absolute despotism. If we find that there is no more reason the establishment of martial law in New Orleans and Georgia than we hope there is, we shall condemn and denounce the tyrannical steps that have been taken or are contemplated. But onr neighbor of the Courier and his friends can do nothing of the kind. If the President sees fit to proclaim martial law over the whole Republic, the Conrier & Co. must, by the inexorable terms of their oath. give to the despotic policy a thorough, ady, and unflinching support. They must vow and argue and protest and as-severate that martial law is the wisest and est law for a people, and that a despotism is the only form of government fit to live under

Let our neighbor of the Courier be very careful. Let him not write an article or a paragraph without bearing in mind his oath. SHELBYVILLE, KY., July, 1866. SHELEVVILLE, KY., July, 1866.
To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:
"Things are working." The weather is hot—thermometer ranging from 93 to 99 degrees, Camicula is in the ascendant, and it seems to me, a mere looker-on, that all the belliger caninus characteristics in the rebel portion of this community have become liquified, and are exuding in such streams as to be carrying rapidly and certainly forward to that famous and oft-heard-of "last ditch" all those who were, during the late treasonable attempt to destroy the Government by force of arms, designated "secesh," "stay-at-home rebels," "rebel sympathizers," &c.

Now, as those that these "last-ditch" gentry induced to go to they field of battle, while they staid at home, did not find that last ditch, these stay-at-home rebels are very diligent in teaching the people that that much-sought for and oft-mentioned place is in the church; and they are earnestly and determinedly striving to break up, divide, and destroy the different congregations, that they may prove to the world that they were mistaken only as to the location, and not as to the fact, that there was such a ditch.

I have absorbed these ideas by reading

there was such a ditch.

I have absorbed these ideas by reading articles from the "Free Christian Commonwealth," and inhaling the atmosphere about this locality at this time. The rebels belonging to the congregation of the First Presbyterian Chnreh of Shellyville are in a direful stew, and the air is rife with their railings against their eminent and excellent pastor, Rev. W. C. Matthews, D. D., one of the most talented and able divines of the "Presbyterian Chnreh in the United States of America. a bright and illustrious star in that glori-

It seems that love and afflicted not probable that the same an object of hatred and envy to traitors, and, like their great prototype of the days of Adam, they grame prototype of the Shellyville Presbyterian Church And they have sno-ceeded in part. Traitors and relels in the Church—some of whom profosed loys at a some prototype of the strain and the Church—some of whom profosed loys are contracts for horses, mulea, cattle, &c., were to le obtained, and horses and mnles were letont to be fed—with Satanicatealth set themselves to work to undergine and sap the love and confidence of the poole in and for their pastor. "Abolition." "radical," and such cries are raised. "He has been here leng enough we want a change." "I have get too used to him, be no longer interests me, and such like objections are whispered around. But all the efforts of these parties had but little effect until Stuart Robinson and Samuel E. Stuart Robinson is stated to be a Virginian. By birth he is an Irishman, born on Irish soil, or on the ocean in an emigrant-ship. He was educated by Presbyterian ladies of Virginia, became a minister, married a rich Virginia lady, was a salt manufacturer in the Kanawha sa nes, vigoronsly pushed the business ahead, Sundays as well as recular days, until, for thus violating God's positive law, divine prinishment was meted out to him through the secular law; for one Sunday, while his slaves and engines were being driven to their utmost capacity to make a big turn out of salt, a boiler burst and killed a hired negro man, whose owner sned Robinson for his value and secured a judgment! The Presbyterian doctrine admits no such thing as an "accident," "an overruling Providence orders all things." True, Stuart Robinson did not so view the chastisement, and to show that he kicked against this deserved punishment for a willful violation of God's commandment, he published in the newspapers a card charging the owner of the deceased negro, and the lawyers and the "wooden-headed jurors" engaged in the snit, as making an attack upon religion through one is in ttack npon religion through one of its

"Provinged town to their bosoms is a hell,
And there hash these three bane." "
"There breath to agritation, and their life Whereon they ride, to pink of that."

And it is not here alone that the mefarious influence of Stuart Robinson and Sam wilson is felt, but wherever they can they are casting their slime of treason against the Presbyterian Church and the State assisted by traitors all over the country.

But I have written much more than I had intended, and must close by stating the Robinson-Wilson rebel narry here. The Robinson-Wilson rebel narry here.

Both Robinson and Wilson have been dubbed D. D. by literary institutions that wished to propitiate and keep upon the peaceful side of them; and irreverent folks interpret these cabalistic letters as meaning "deceitful devil" and "doubly deviliab!" Whatever may be the proper interpretation, as applied to them, neither of the men used be under any apprehension of ever receiving the reward of the "Peace Maker," or of being persecuted for right-councess sake.

that in nave written much more than thad intended, and must close by stating that the Robinson-Wilson rebel party here, in their haste to do wrong, or because the Lord has blinded their understandings, have in all their proceedings blundered from one misstep to another. While they are holding meetings, counseling with lawyers, and spending their days in concecting ways and modes to drive Dr. Matthews away and golbble up the property, the loyal Assembly party are quietly pursning the even tenor of their way, praying for the prevalence of brotherly love, and that He who ruleth over all would enable them to pursue the ways that make for peace. They are governed by their Form of Church Government and the Bible, and their obligations under those venerable and venerated authorities. And though the rebel members may violated be the responsibility and the crime of the BLEEDING FROM THE Nose.—Some two years ago, while going down Broadway, in New York, blood commenced dropping from my nose quite rapidly. I stepped acide and applied my handkerchief, intending to repair to the nearest hotel, when a gentleman accosted me, saying:

when a gentleman accosted me, saying:
"Just put a piece of paper in your moutin, chew it rapidly, and it will stop your nose bleeding." Thanking him rather doubtfully, I did as he suggested, and the flow of blood ceased almost immediately. I have seen the remedy tried since quite frequently, and with success always. Doubtless any substance would answer the same purpose as paper, the stoppage of the flow of blood being caused doubtless by the rapid motion of the jaws and the counteraction of the muscles and arteries connecting the jaws and nose.

Physicians state that placing a small roll of paper or muslin above the front teeth, under the upper lip, and pressing hard on the same, will arrest bleeding from the nose, checking the passage of blood through the arteries leading to the nose. The following I give as I get it; it is easy of trial, but of doubtful utility:

'Dr. Negrier, a French surgeon, says the simple elevation of a person's arm will always stop bleeding at the nose. He explains the fact physiologically, and declares it a positive remedy."

fend the most sensitive relied and rebel sympathizer. By precept and example the has tanght that brotherly love which the Lord and Saviour enjoins upon His followers.

For eighteen years Dr. Matthews has ministered in holy things to this congregation. By the bedside of the afflicted, in the house of morning, he has ever been faithful and true. He has taken many into the church, he has married many couples; he has baptized the children; pointed all the way of salvation; buried the dead, and went and sympathized with the bareaved and ment and suppress.
